1. The formal drawings submitted September 29, 2003 are acceptable. However, the drawings remain objected to because they do not appear to properly represent the invention. For example:

a. The drafting appears to be faulty. For example, what happens to the thickness of the plate 20 and board 28 in Fig. 3? The perspective does not appear to be correctly and consistently applied (in contrast to Fig. 2 where it looks correct). Why does the thickness of the plate appear to decrease, but not the plug 32? Also, the use of perspective does not appear to have been applied to the relationship between the plate, the board and the contact 22.

b. There should apparently be an opening through one or both of the plate and the board for the actuator 16 to extend through. The addition of Fig. 4 showing actuator 16 extending through the plate and the board is appreciated. However, the openings should still be shown in Fig. 3.

c. The center and front of plate 20 in Fig. 3 does not appear to properly represent the structure shown in Fig. 2 or described in the specification. As drawn, with the plate partially transparent and not showing all of the structure, Fig. 2 is more confusing than informative. It is suggested that the plate and contacts be separated sufficiently to show all of the structure on both members.

Proposed drawing corrections or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Art Unit: 2833

3. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Despite applicant's comments (which are not part of the specification), the tabs 24a, 24b, 34 and 36 which project above the level of contacts 22a, 22b, 24c and 24d appear to interfere with the ability of the contacts to contact circuit board 28. As noted above, the aperture in board 28 should be shown in Fig. 3.

How are the actuator 16 and the plate 20 attached? If they are securely attached, how can the ramps be moved relative to the tabs? If the actuator and plate are not securely attached, how is the plate 20 supported? Despite applicant's comments referring to one of many known support methods, the specification does not indicate how the present device supports the plate.

4. Claim 3 is objected to. It has not been properly copied from the previously amended version and should not depend from claim 2. If this claim remains as presently stated, applicant will be charged for a multiple dependent claim.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In
